$1.2 Million Indian Land Offered for Sale BEST BARGAIN, SAYS RALLY SPEAKER

Indian Office Calls Bids on 165 City Acres

By FRED C. WEIGEL

The Palm Springs office of the Bureau of Indian Affairs, today announced that 14 parcels of land on the Agua Caliente Indian Reservation, valued at more than $1,200,000, are being offered for sale.

Invitations for sealed bids will be mailed to those persons who have indicated an interest in purchasing Indian lands in Southern California.

Eleven of the parcels, containing an aggregate of 165 acres, are located within the city limits of Palm Springs. The other three parcels, which contain a total of 67½ acres, are located in the county area about three miles south of Palm Springs.

Parcels Listed

One of the largest land sales to date, parcels of the sale run from five-acres to 40 acres. They include:

Item 1, totaling 15 acres, belonging to Mildred Lucille Kitchen, is located near the intersection of Sunrise Way and Vista China.

2, totaling 40 acres, owned by Clarice Bow, is located northwest of the above parcel in the center of Section 2.

3, totaling 20 acres, owned by Shirley Ann Kitchen, is located across from the Ranch Club facing Sunrise Way.

4, totaling 5 acres, owned by Edmund Peter Siva, is located on Alejo near Sunrise Way in Section 14.

5, totaling 20 acres, owned by Joseph Patrick Patencio, is located in Section 22 south of the prolongation of Mesquite and north of Rancho Trailer Park.

6, totaling 10 acres, owned by the heirs of Sylvia Julia Patencio, is located about 1,200 feet west of Patencio Road, south of Ramon in Section 22.

7, totaling 10 acres, owned by Winifred Patencio Preckwinkle, is located just north of item 5 in Section 22.

8, totaling 5 acres, owned by Robert Steven Saubel, is located one-half mile west of South Palm Canyon Drive, fronting on Ramon Road.

9, totaling 20 acres, owned by John Damon Andreas, is located at El Cielo Road and south of Sunny Dunes.

10, totaling 10 acres, owned by Leonard Charles Bow, is located one-half mile south of Ramon in Section 20.

11, totaling 10 acres, is located one-fourth mile south of Ramon in Section 20, owned by Darlene Diaz.

12, totaling 20 acres, owned by the heirs of Sheila Bridgit Miguel, is located south of Ramon Road, east of Date Palm Drive.

13, totaling 40 acres, owned by the heirs of Stephen John Lopez, located south on Ramon Road, one mile east of Date Palm Drive.

14, totaling 7½ acres, owned by the heirs of Steven John Lopez, is located just south of the parcel described in item 12.

Sealed bids for these properties will be received at the Palm Springs office of the Bureau of Indian Affairs, 509 Industrial Place, until 1 p.m. April 20, at which time they will be publicly opened.

City Leaders Undaunted By Small Crowd

Opinions Vary On
Indications for Election Results

The sparse crowd at last night's city airport bond rally drew varying comments from Palm Springs' community leaders. "The freeway issue before the city council drew some 600 people," City Manager Dan Wagner said.

"On the other hand," he added, "the golf course issue, highly controversial, drew only about 10." You can bet that if there were sizeable opposition to the airport acquisition program it would have shown last night.

Airport Executive Committee members Hardin Hart and Tom Kieley predicted a total vote Tuesday of about 50 per cent, or around 3,200. "Palm Springs just doesn't turn out for meetings," they both said.

Long time Palm Springs resident Red Kenyon told the Desert Sun this morning that the opposition to an issue always votes. "The job of the airport people," he said, "is to get out the vote of those who realize the necessity of the airport purchase," adding that he is for the issue.

He, too, said the local residents just don't show for meetings. He did not believe that the size of last night's crowd necessarily indicated voter apathy. "That 150 was huge in the light of many turnouts for community issue discussions in the past."

"Don't let it bother you," singer Allan Jones said last night in perhaps the best remark. "We entertainers have drawn similar audiences before."

Storm Dumps Heavy Snow on New England

A full-scale snowstorm that dumped up to 1½ feet of snow on New England blew out to sea today but a new batch of rain and snow pushed eastward from the Pacific Northwest.

As the storm winds subsided, northern Maine found itself buried under 40 or more inches of old and new snow.

Showers from the Pacific Ocean scattered the coast from Canada into Northern California, changed to snow in the Rocky Mountains, and turned back into cold rain as they drove eastward into the northern Great Plains.

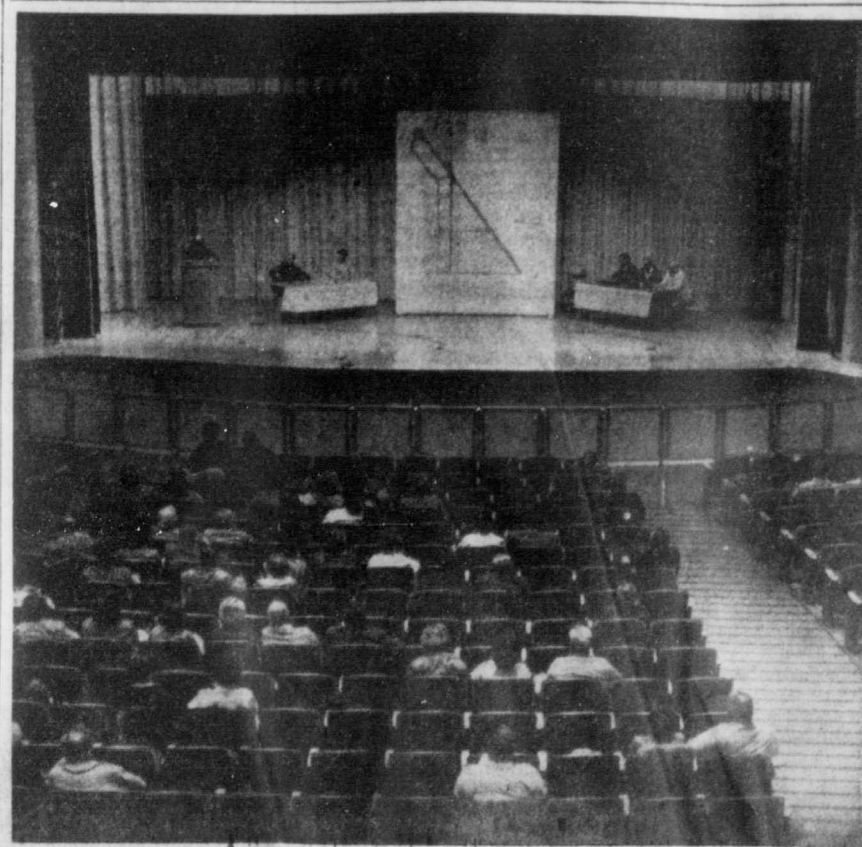

The New England storm Thursday packed winds of 50 miles an hour that pushed tides 2 to 3 feet higher than normal.

SOVIETS HIT 'POLICE TERROR' IN PORTUGAL

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UPI)—Russia charged Portugal today with conducting a "regime of military and police terror" in its African territory of Angola.

Soviet Ambassador Valerian A. Zorin, missing no opportunity to keep the African situation stirred up, told the Security Council the Portuguese are "physically eliminating and persecuting Angolan patriots."

The council was debating the procedural issue of whether to put on its agenda the question of Angola, a territory with 4.5

WEIGHTLESS PROBLEM

Russ' Savants Clash On Space Questions

MOSCOW (UPI)—Two Soviet scientists clashed today over the question of whether Russia's newest space triumph of returning a dog safely from a space flight has removed a key obstacle from man making a similar trip soon.

The exchange by the two scientists indicated that Russian scientists, pressing to get a Russian into space before the United States, are not unanimous in how close they actually are to this feat.

No Danger to Man
The scientists were quoted by the official Soviet news agency Tass after Thursday's launch and return of the five-ton spaceship with its cargo, Blackie, the dog.

Tass quoted Prof. Vassili Parin of the Soviet Academy of Medical Sciences, "Already we can presume that weightlessness is no danger to manned space flight."

But the agency also quoted the Institute of Experimental Biology's Prof. Ivan Miasky: "Scientists are not yet unanimous in their conclusions on the effect of weightlessness on living organisms."

Soviet leaders have declared repeatedly that the Soviet Union will not risk a human life in the conquest of space and no astronaut will be put into orbit until he has a 100 per cent chance of surviving.

Hail Achievement
But leading Soviet researchers continued to hail Thursday's space feat as bringing them closer to the day when man will be launched into orbit and brought back.

A third scientist indicated today there might have been more than one four-legged animal on the ship.

Broadcasting on Moscow Radio's home service, Prof. Ezras Asratyan, corresponding member of the U. S. S. R. Academy of Sciences, said: "I can report that our four-legged space travelers... are well."

All official announcements relating to the space shot so far have said only that Blackie, a female dog, and other "biological objects" were aboard.

Pupils Escape Injury

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (UPI)—Twenty children escaped injury Thursday when a school bus collided with a car and slid down an embankment north of here. The bus driver, H. C. Hayden, and two occupants of the automobile were listed in critical condition.

Eisenhower Going Fishing This Weekend

Former President Dwight Eisenhower will leave Palm Springs by plane tomorrow for a week fishing trip in Baja California.

He will leave from a local airport and fly to Rancho Las Cruces, south of La Paz.

He will be joined by Charles Jones, chairman of the Board of Richfield Oil Company, who will fly to Baja California in Jones' plane, which is expected to arrive at Desert Airpark at noon today.

Eisenhower and Jones are going to do some deep-sea fishing and plan to stay for a full week, returning to Eldorado Country Club on March 19, the same day as Mrs. Eisenhower is expected to return here from Elizabeth Arden.

The time of the Presidents departure from Palm Desert Airpark was not announced.

WANTS AN OPEN DEBATE

Ed Accepts Jack's Challenge To Settle Differences on TV

By BRUCE AGNEW

United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI)—Ed Sullivan today accepted Jack Paar's challenge of a TV duel to settle their differences over guest star payments, but said they should fight it out in a great debate on Paar's own show.

Several television headlines already were picking sides. Paar, on his program Thursday night, challenged Sullivan to pick any Sunday night and schedule the best talent he could get on his CBS-TV show. Paar said he would put on a special at the same time on NBC, and may the best man win the ratings.

Sullivan Not Concerned

Sullivan—stressing that "Paar and I have always been good friends"—replied calmly: "If NBC (Paar's network) wants to do that its entirely up to them. They've thrown everything else at me, they may as well throw Paar."

But more to Sullivan's fancy was a face to face meeting on Paar's home grounds.

"I've wired him and NBC to set up a debate on Paar's show, where both of us can indulge in offbeat talk," Sullivan told United Press International.

Bond Rally Has 150 Turnout To Discuss Issues

By CARL W. SCHOOSS

An enthusiastic but sparse crowd of 150 at the Airport Bond Rally last night at the high school auditorium heard the airport acquisition program described as "the best airport buy I have ever seen."

The observation was made in the course of the feature address by California Aeronautics Director Clyde To. Barnett. He added, "The mere cost of replacing the existing facilities would be at least $8 million."

"There is no small city airport in the country so ideally situated," Barnett said. "Here you're close to town, yet the takeoff and landing patterns do not go over your populated areas."

Need Emphasized
"Palm Springs got the airport as a gift from the government and all you're being asked to do is to hang on to what you have," he said. "If you had had to build it in the first place," he added, "you would now be much more aware of its value."

In detailing the need for an airport, Barnett pointed out that the glamorous aspects of present aviation are the military and the airlines. Actually, he said, these are minor compared to the huge gains of over 65 per cent each year in the purchase and use of private and corporate planes.

He predicted that this private plane traffic would be the major use of the airport in the very near future and the major base of Palm Springs tourist economy.

Federal Aid Sure
Federal aid under existing programs is virtually assured, Barnett said, pointing out that the money is there. Palm Springs' priority is number one, and Washington has given every assurance it could prior to the actual purchase of the land.

Dudley Steele, county airport commissioner and director of the California Taxpayers' Association, detailed the financial outlook for the airport in programming a "break-even" operation after three years and profitable operation beginning with the fourth year.

Other Speakers
Other speakers included Hardin Hart, who detailed the features of the land purchase program, and Tom Kieley, who pointed out the necessity of purchase of the airport by the city at this time.

"We could have purchased the airport in 1956 for $400,000," Tom

Teenagers Held for Robbery

INDIO — Three teen-agers are in Indio jail today after capture in El Centro on charges of armed robbery in Desert Hot Springs at approximately 10:15 p.m. Thursday, sheriff's deputies reported.

Leader of the trio is Richard Anthony Hamilton, 18, of Fullerton. His two companions, one a girl, were juveniles.

Sheriff's investigators issued an all-points radio alert for the trio after Arthur William Rossiter, who gave his address as 263 North Indian Avenue, Palm Springs, called deputies reporting his 1960 Pontiac had been taken at gun point.

Flagged by Trio
Rossiter related that he and Arvela Sue Lineman, North Palm Springs, were flagged down by the youthful trio at approximately 10 p.m., and told the teen-agers were out of gas. Rossiter drove the trio to Desert Hot Springs, where he found all service stations closed.

As he turned toward Palm Springs, Rossiter found himself covered by guns in the hands of both boys.

"We're hot and we need a car," they said, ordering Rossiter and Miss Lineman from the car. Rossiter and Miss Lineman walked toward Desert Hot Springs, and called officers from a cafe.

Caught After Chase
The trio was spotted in the Rossiter car in El Centro, and apprehended after a chase, deputies reported.

While deputies returned the teen-agers to jail here, other officers joined California Highway Patrol officers in checking out the car they had near Desert Hot Springs.

Four rifles, two electric razors, an electric knife sharpener and a radio — all believed stolen — were found in the abandoned car, deputies said.

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown has signed an urgency bill providing for cancellation or refund of taxes on property affected by the so-called welfare exemption.

ANGELS OPEN EXHIBITIONS TOMORROW

"— and it's one, two, three strikes and you're out at the old ball game."

That will be the theme song tomorrow as the Chicago Cubs and the Los Angeles Angels uncork the 1961 exhibition baseball season at the Polo Grounds.

Game time is 1:30 p.m. and there are still some ducats available. For details see Sports — Page 11-A—today.

Fire Guts Downtown Dormitory

A possible flash blaze gutted the interior of a frame dormitory for hotel help at the rear of the Palm Springs Hotel lot at approximately 10:45 a.m. today.

Damage was estimated $5,000 to the structure. Personal effects losses may total $3,000, firemen said.

Fire Captain Warren Empey told The Desert Sun that no personal injuries occurred, though four men were in the structure when the fire started.

Jay Itchon, one occupant, reported that "there was a sudden poof, and the room was afire."

Itchon, Henry Ling, Louis Dutra and Alfred Nulton hastily evacuated the burning building.

Nulton reported that the only clothing he saved was in a suitcase which he tossed from the building.

Units from fire stations one and two responded to the fire call at 10:40 a.m.

AIRPORT ELECTION

Residents Express Opinions

MILT HICKS, developer and long-time resident — Palm Springs voters, knowing that their future is dependent upon the air travel of visitors to the desert area, will act accordingly upon the Airport Bond Election

March 14. The future of this community and the Winter Golf Capital of the World is dependent upon it.

TED McKINNEY, Councilman —

"There are a lot of wage earners in my district and I know they are all keenly interested in their jobs. I know that the airport not only produces and has produced many, many jobs, but also that the increased use of the facilities and the land there will produce a lot more jobs. More jobs mean more money circulating—a broader tax base and less individual taxes. That's why I'm urging all my constituents to vote "Yes" in Tuesday's airport acquisition election."

Segregation Guards Demanded by Javits

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said today he might oppose President Kennedy's education bill unless it contained safeguards against segregation.

Javits said Kennedy was appealing southern senators by seeking to ward off anti-segregation amendments to the $2.3 billion bill.

"Appeasement is not going to work in these welfare measures any more than it works in international affairs," the New York senator said.

Javits made the statement after hearing testimony that American Negroes are being asked to accept humiliation by standing aside while millions of tax dollars are being spent for segregated schools.

Legal Opinion Sought

At the same time, the White House said Kennedy had consulted various legal experts in deciding it would be unconstitutional for the government to provide across-the-board loans to parochial and private schools.

But Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said "there was no formal legal opinion" from the Justice Department on the matter. Justice Department officials said Thursday a memo on the subject had been sent to the White House.

The religious issue also was raised at the hearing by the Senate subcommittee on education at which Javits stated his position.

A spokesman for 300,000 Jews told the senators that long-term loans for private and parochial school construction would be the first step toward religious political parties in this country.

Max M. Kampelman, Washington, speaking for the American Jewish Congress, said federal officials responsible for making such loans would be under "unending pressure" in deciding how to distribute them.

"We might then have in this country a Catholic party, an Episcopalian party, a Jewish party and other sectarian political groups," Kampelman said.

Proposals Are Advanced
As pressure mounted on the public-private school aid dispute, differing proposals were advanced to separate loans to private and parochial schools from grants to public schools.

But the situation remained so muddled that the only agreement seemed to be that aid to education of any kind is in serious trouble.

Kieley told the group, "Shall we wait again and see the price go up still more?"

Written questions from the floor dealt mostly with the cost factors and the use to which the non-essential land purchased would be put.

Entertainers

Entertainment headliners Ginny Simms, Allan Jones and Ish Kabibble, who volunteered their talents, entertained the audience to start the rally with songs and routines.

The master of ceremonies spot was handled by Police Chief Gus Kettman. Phil Regan, scheduled to handle the show, was unable to attend because of the hospitalization of his wife.

The rally program was handled by Airport Executive Committee chairman F. Gillar Boyd, Jr., and assisting him on the platform in addition to Steele, Hart and Kieley, were committee members Sig Ehrens, Jud Sessions and Carl W. Schooss.

Rockefeller Says Nixon Is Still The Head Man

NEW YORK (UPI) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York said Thursday he still regarded former Vice President Richard M. Nixon as the "titular head" of the Republican party.

Pressed by reporters as to what this meant, Rockefeller replied: "Don't ask me."

Commenting on conservative Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., Rockefeller said he was a "very active" member of the Republican party. He also said Goldwater presents his point of view "with great vigor."

Board Okays Opera For High School Use

The Palm Springs Unified School District board last night gave quick approval to the one-act opera "Down in the Valley," set for High School production this spring.

The opera, described by board member Everett Ball as "sprightly" and "a bit of Americana" is expected to make less inroads on other activities than the full-scale three-act musical productions presented in prior years.

The board was advised that the all-school play, "Ondine," is not a substitute for a three-act musical.

The High School production — adapted from the original with some line changes — features a ballet opening, but is primarily a replacement for a junior class play.

The junior class lacked "manpower," principal Dr. Charles Webster explained. The term was literal, he added. Only two boys were in the class, and no suitable material for two boys and a class of girls was found.

The board approved Wexler and Harrison plans for two steel classrooms for the Cathedral City school, and authorized bids when the plans are approved by the state division of architecture. Estimated cost for the job, scheduled for August completion, is $42,933.50. The administration hopes for a $40,000 total.

Military leave — mandatory by law — was authorized for assistant district superintendent Jack Miles. Miles, a Navy lieutenant commander, will go on active duty Mar. 20 - Mar. 31, in the Hawaiian command area.

TRANSLATOR GETS $115, NEEDS $4,848

Translator Stations received $115 in donations during the past few days, leaving a total of $4,848 of the $15,000 operating fund needed still to be raised.

Directors of the non-profit television service are asking $15 donation from each Translator user.

$1 Million Goes To The Birds

FRESNO (UPI) — A successful real estate investor has left Fresno the bulk of his $1 million estate to build and maintain a public park and bird refuge.

The bequest from Ralph W. Woodward was contained in a will filed Thursday by attorney Claude L. Rowe, Fresno. Woodward died Monday at the age of 79.

The estate of the Fresno businessman and member of an early family in the area consist mainly of stocks and bonds and part interest in the Temple Bar Building in downtown Fresno. Woodward has sold most of his real estate holdings before his death.

The will provided that one-fifth of the estate be sold to set up the park and refuge and the remainder be invested with the profits used for upkeep of the projects.

Power Grab Expected by Jimmie Hoffa

Reported Ready to Issue Order for Teamster Election

WASHINGTON — Teamsters' President James R. Hoffa was expected to set in motion today election machinery that would virtually assure his control of the nation's largest union until mid-1966.

Hoffa was reported ready to issue a call for a Teamsters' convention in Miami Beach, Fla., in early July that would choose officers for the next five years. He is considered a shoo-in for the $50,000-a-year presidency.

An estimated 2,100 convention delegates from the union's 900 locals will be selected under court-imposed regulations designed to assure a free and democratic choice.

But the Teamsters' chief, who is under federal indictment on charges of mail fraud involving alleged misuse of union funds, faces no opposition at this time in his re-election bid.

Every one of the union's 1.7 million members, except those who have fallen behind in dues payments, will be entitled to vote in local elections of delegates, the court ruled.

Hoffa has sent a seven-page letter of instructions to local officers describing each step in the election timetable.

The regulations call for 20-day advance notice to all Teamsters of meetings to nominate and elect delegates.

Nominations must be conducted 30 days after nominations but not later than May 21.

Urban Renewal Plan Approved

SACRAMENTO — A proposed law that would require a local election to start an urban renewal project won approval from a legislative committee Thursday.

The measure's author, Assemblyman Bruce V. Reagan, R-Pasadena, said that if his bill became law in California, it would be the first such statute in the United States. It would not affect projects already started.

Currently, urban renewal projects are initiated and directed by local officials who generally depend on public hearings to gauge community sentiment.

Reagan's bill passed the Assembly Committee on Municipal and County Government by a 6-2 vote after three hours of testimony from supporters and opponents.

Reagan's measure would require that a redevelopment agency, the body created to direct renewal and negotiate for federal funds, could not do business without a resolution from the state legislature. The legislature could not pass the resolution until the community held a general or special election and a majority of those voting approved.

Board Endorses Sales Tax Curb

SACRAMENTO — The state Board of Equalization has endorsed a bill that would require retailers to collect sales tax only on the total number of taxable items when a customer makes several purchases at the same time.

Chairman John W. Lynch said today the measure by Assemblyman Bert DeLotto, D-Fresno, would protect consumers from being overtaxed.

Doc Says Liz Made 'Very Rare Recovery'

LONDON — Elizabeth Taylor was off the danger list today and her doctor credited the movie star's will to live as rare recovery from pneumonia.

Dr. Carl Heinz Goldman said Miss Taylor—twice at the brink of death since she was stricken last Saturday—was "definitely out of danger" Thursday night.

This morning, Miss Taylor's press secretary reported her "further improved."

"She has made a very rare recovery," Goldman told reporters outside the London Clinic. "Much of it can be attributed to the special drugs, but of course she herself, with her remarkable will to live, was the biggest factor in overcoming the illness."

"She put up a wonderful fight," he said.

Goldman said that if Miss Taylor continued to make progress, she might be moved from the hospital to her suite at the Dorchester Hotel in a week to 10 days if it was felt she would be more comfortable.

The doctor said that both of Miss Taylor's lungs were fourthly cleared of the congestion which restricted her breathing and forced the use of an electronic lung. The lung is not being used now.

Doctors also cut down on the administration of antibiotics and have stopped feeding her intravenously. They now are using a gastric tube which carries nourishment to her stomach through a tube in her nose.

Port Strike Threatens To Spread

SAN FRANCISCO — Negotiators worked today to settle a cargo-handling dispute that tied up freight operations on three of the West Coast's major ports and threatened to spread to other cities in an interunion work wrangle.

With about 4,000 longshoremen off the job in the three cities, the dispute threatened to add to economic woes created by 300,000 persons already out of work because of recession in the areas involved.

The dispute broke out Tuesday on the Los Angeles-Long Beach docks, and developed into a virtual waterfront shutdown in San Francisco Thursday.

Picket lines posted by the Teamsters Union set off the dock tie-ups. Members of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union were observing the picket lines under a mutual agreement pact, although the two unions appeared to be at cross purposes in the dispute.

The teamsters posted pickets after being ordered by their employers to stop making up freight loads on the piers.

Employers contended that under a mechanization agreement between the Pacific Maritime Association and the ILWU, longshoremen are supposed to make up and take down stacks of cargo.

Old Traditions Fall in Texas Senate Race

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — An old Texas tradition fell by the wayside today because there are so many candidates in the special U.S. Senate race to fill Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson's former seat.

Bexar County officials usually throw all the names of the candidates in a hat and draw them out to determine their place on the ballot. This year there are 71 candidates.

The biggest hat they could find Thursday belonged to Jimmy Knight, Democratic chairman for the county. It wasn't big enough.

Perplexed officials had to swallow their pride and use a waste basket.

Myers also reported that March receipts, so far, are running ahead of last year's figure at this time.

Palms DESERT — Post Office receipts in this community continued to climb over last year's records according to a report from Postmaster Bill Myers.

Receipts for the month of February this year totalled $13,133.92—an increase of more than $1,500 over last February's total of $11,624.13.

Myers also reported that March receipts, so far, are running ahead of last year's figure at this time.

Tax Dollars Add to 'Yes' Vote

As the Airport Acquisition election campaign draws down to the wire, there are some who have quite frankly stated that they would vote against it. In most cases they have legitimate questions which have not been resolved in their minds or legitimate doubts which have come up through misunderstanding. As these questions are answered for them and their misunderstandings cleared, they have become staunch proponents of the bond issue.

The doubts have usually centered around, "Why should I vote more taxes when my own are already so high?" It's a good question which should and usually is applied to every issue. But, in this case, there is a good answer.

This community necessarily has high governmental costs. The problem confronting city dads is brutally simple. They must provide civic services, police, fire, etc., for a much larger population than is represented by the permanent home owners.

The difference is represented by our winter visitors.

But these visitors are very welcome, representing as they do the very base of the economy of this entire community. Directly, they also pay taxes in the form of sales taxes on the services they use and goods they consume. Indirectly, they contribute much more.

Few of the jobs in Palm Springs, proportionately, would be possible without the tourist dollar. Whether the job be in construction or catering, air conditioning or hair styling, the dollars which made and make it possible were spent here by tourists.

Take them away and you take away jobs. Add to them with better airport facilities, for example, and you create still more jobs.

More tourists and more jobs spell out a broader tax base to keep our community running. A broader tax base means less of an individual tax load.

That's the dollars and cents answer to the very real question of the effect of Tuesday's airport acquisition election on local taxes.

That's why we urge you to vote, and to vote "Yes." It's good business for you and your community.

Help Prevent Poisoning Deaths

Poisoning death toll around the nation annually runs more than 1,000. A small percentage compared to traffic deaths, yes, but almost 50 per cent of the poison victims are children.

These are the ones who should be protected, and you can help prevent a tragedy in your own home right now.

Be sure your medicine cabinet is inaccessible to your youngsters. All youngsters like to climb and explore, so don't discount the fact that it is high.

To aid yourself and your youngsters in an emergency, paste inside the medicine cabinet the day and night telephone numbers of your doctor and druggist, together with antidotes for poisons.

For your own protection, remove from the cabinet all bottles, jars, tubes or boxes that have lost their labels or with labels that can't be read. Also take out all medicines that are no longer in use, that have passed a stated expiration date, that show signs of deterioration such as discoloration, cloudiness, caking or sediment.

Then discard of all liquids, pills, tablets or powders by flushing them down the drain, and be careful to place other discarded drugs where they will not attract youngsters—yours or others.

These steps will help put an end to involuntary suicide, and it may produce a greater respect for the medicine chest and the valuable but dangerous drugs it contains.

People...Places...Things...

NEW YORK — People... Places... Things... Several years ago, Jack Le Vien, a boyish man who once was editor of Pathe News and later a Colonel on General Eisenhower's Press Staff in World War II, grew bored with the TV show he was watching and turned to his bookshelf. He picked up one of Winston Churchill's massive volumes on the great war.

AS HE READ, and his news-reel mind conjured footage, the thought of a television series based on the great man's majestic words, illustrated by action footage came to him like the crack of a rifle. All Jack then had to do was write some sample half-hour scripts, get to Sir Winston and gain his consent, then line up Generals Eisenhower, Montgomery, Bradley, De Gaulle, Alexander, Speidel and a few others as bit players. Jack wrote Churchill a letter. After some months went by without an answer he revealed his forlorn hope to several friends. They laughed at him. Churchill charges more than, say, Sinatra.

BUT ONE DAY, out of the blue, Le Vien received a guarded reply. There followed an exchange of letters culminating in a meeting between the two at the apartment of Bernard Baruch in New York. There the young man cracked the next to last barrier.

He assured Churchill that the films would be available for centuries to come and reach audiences far beyond his written words. The final barrier — an advance of $30,000 — was offered and accepted at Chartwell, the Churchill country home, in June of 1959.

THE ACTUAL PAPERS were signed and sealed on the yacht of Aristotle Onassis, above the hue and cry of a fight between the Greek oilman and Maria Callas. Sir Winston was their guest and, in turn, Jack and his 13-year-old daughter Nicole were Sir Winston's guests. Nicole asked the old man if he thought there would be a third world war.

"NO," HE SAID in time, "I don't believe so. Perhaps your father's television programs will alert enough people as to the manner in which history can repeat itself. If enough are alerted, war will never come to our world again."

The TV series that emerged from this random thought, and track-down of an elusive man, is "The Valiant Years," seen on ABC Sunday nights. First class.

IF U. S. AMBASSADOR to UN Adlai Stevenson really is going to expand his staff and appoint two additional officials of ambassadorial rank, he'd best consider Al Kelly. Kelly, a recent big hit on "Candid Camera," is a little comedian who has made double-talk into an absolute art. He can launch into any subject known to man, from the Congo situation to the control of boll-weevil and make arresting sense for three or four sentences, then switch to the most reasonable sounding gobble-de-gook imaginable. Some of it sounds a lot better than the clearer portions of UN debates.

THERE WILL COME a time when Ambassador Stevenson just will not be able to continue wrangling with his Soviet counterpart. Kelly would be the perfect deputy in such a crisis.

For a generation, Al Kelly has had statesmen, financiers, diplomats, tycoons and sports and theatrical people — assembled at banquets, notably — leaning forward hanging on every meaningless sentence. The more important the guest of honor at such an affair might be the more attention he gives to Al, for fear that he might be exposed as a square who didn't really know what Kelly is talking about.

"DUROCHER FELTERED that team like a granist and didn't deserve the frizzim of the agitative suspension," Al once said to baseball commissioner Happy Chandler at a sports dinner.

Happy nodded sagely. "You've got a point there," he said. "If you want action, though, you'd better put it in writing."

TOOTS SHOR WAS lecturing his daughter Kerry about her report card. She had dropped to 98 in math. The schoolgirl departed crestfallen, then returned triumphantly waving Earl Wilson's item about Toots trying to call me at a new phone number Yukon - - - . He spent four days dialing Yukon.

"You can't be too smart either, Dad," Kerry said.

'As I See It---These Are the Facts of Life'

This Side of The Sun

By Phat

You're never too old to learn
A trite old saying but true,
Down at the adult high school
There's much to interest you.

Comes a memorandum to my desk from Tess Potter, headed "Night Life That Pays."

IT WAS A BROCHURE plugging the Palm Springs Adult Evening School and the schedule of events covered a week-long evening program that offered everything from hobbies to instructions in items that make for better jobs.

Good advice is included in lectures on various subjects including Investments and Securities, offered Tuesday evenings to help you lay aside something for the future.

SAYS MRS. POTTER "for the lowly price of the almost extinct $2 bill, the minimum race bet, less than most of the hunting and fishing licenses, you can take advantage of any or all of the 28 classes offered."

"For this $2 class registration fee, you can study anything from 'Writing for Publication' to 'plumbing.'"

"That's what I call a bargain offer."

THERE ARE CLASSES in making jewelry, dress-making, shorthand, typewriting, singing, photography, foreign languages and also English. Which subject can come in mighty handy at times.

There's something for the rock-hounds, too, plus trade apprentice classes in carpentry, electrical, plumbing and telephony. It's really the night life that can pay off, says Mrs. Potter.

SHOULDN'T MENTION this, I suppose, because someone might get smart enough at the school and come up and take my job.

But one of the principal classes offered is by Mrs. Alice Koenig, successful writer and teacher, on "Writing for Publication."

Most everyone loves to write, to put ideas on paper coherently.

This class, says Mrs. Koenig, is designed to turn rejection slips into money. Which, like English, can come in handy.

MOST OF YOU know where the high school is located. For those who do not, it's out Ramon Road, just beyond Sunrise Drive.

You can't miss it. The office of the Adult Evening School is in Room 309 and the classes start at 7 p.m. Mondays through Fridays and you're out and about again, much smarter, at around 10 p.m.

FIRST TELEPHONE message was transmitted by Alexander Graham Bell 85 years ago today. It was "Come here, Mr. Walton. I want you."

Wonder if he spelled it out like W for Wenatchee, A like Albuquerque, L like Louisville, T like Tehachapi, O like Ojai and N like Natchez.

Anyway, 85 years ago he started something.

Got to stop now, there goes that dratted phone again.

STAN DELAPLANE:

Pull to the Curb

Excellent news this excellent day: Science has at last turned its hand to practical matters and invented a gadget to warn you of radar speed traps.

You keep this gadget in your car — it is about the size of two packs of cigarettes and is battery-powered.

As soon as you come within two blocks of radar tracking equipment, the gadget starts to buzz. You then hit the brakes. And the Johnny Nabs are baffled as we say in journalism circles.

This is interesting news. Because everybody is worried about automobiles these days. (I bought a little foreign bomb. Right away I read in the paper that I am destroying Detroit.)

Everybody is worried about cars. And recently, Mr. Whit Hobbs, an advertising vice president, addressed auto dealers. He advised them to improve their image.

I do not know what the image of the auto dealer is. My image of the auto dealer is a man who walks around my trade-in car tut-tutting and saying:

"You gave it pretty rough treatment, didn't you?"

He then tells you how bad the used car market is. And that you are lucky to have such a friendly individual take your old bomb off your hands. I have positively hated my old car after hearing a high caliber auto dealer talk about it.

Anyway, about images. The best image I recall was the image of Mr. Earl Muntz who became "Madman" Muntz.

This image is the brainstorm of Mr. Benn Reyes and Mr. Mike Shore, a pair of experimental gentlemen in the public image business.

"I like to GIVE cars away but my wife won't let me! She's crazy!"

That was what "Madman" Muntz said on the radio.

Under the Shore - Reyes build-up, Mr. Muntz bought cars by the pound — never even looked under the hood.

This whetted up his business until hardly any other dealer could sell cars. Everybody wanted to trade with "Madman."

The "Madman" rightfully became rich and went into the television business.

Another successful dealer was "Horsetrader Ed." And when I was shoveling adjectives for the dailies, I was often called upon to interview people who sat on flagpoles for the "Horsetrader."

The "Horsetrader" wore cowboy chaps. He carried two pistols which he drew occasionally and fired blankly into the air.

I don't know exactly what image Mr. Hobbs would put upon the auto dealer. But it seems to me most people want to buy cars from odd characters.

I cannot remember when every body started worrying about the auto business.

In my salad days, we only worried about the number one bearing — if you went up hill the engine got hot and the oil ran back in the pan and didn't reach that bearing. Pretty soon — Clunkety, clunk.

We let Henry Ford do his own worrying.

Now it seems the President of the U. S. worries about the industry.

The industry worries about itself.

The advertising people worry about the dealer's image.

The public worries whether they should have longer tail fins or buy a compact.

So it is pleasant to find that electronic Science has removed worrying about the radar trap. Step on the gas, Claude, and destroy yourself before it's too late.

"THAT'S THE STORY OF MY LIFE" by box

Dear Abby...

...by Abigail VanBuren

DEAR ABBY: From the day we were married I gave my wife a very generous allowance, but she never saved a dime. She said she wasn't going to save her money for my next wife to spend. It took me 15 years to figure out an answer. Now I tell her that I am not going to save any money either — let her next husband support her.

Consequently, we have nothing put away for our future and no economic security. Don't you think a woman should save something, or is that just a man's duty?

FEATHER MERCHANT

DEAR FEATHER: I think EVERYONE should save a part of his income or allowance. A man is morally obligated to provide for his wife's future should he go first. But a woman who doesn't lay away a little nestegg, should her breadwinner lose his job or become ill, is just plain cuckoo.

DEAR ABBY: Last night a neighbor of mine dropped by unexpectedly to visit with me. I had my table all set for a dinner party I was giving the next day. When she saw it, she all but laughed in my face. She said, "For crying out loud, you'll have to dust your dishes by the time your guests come!"

Now, Abby, I wasn't raised in the ritzy home in the world, but it was no far shack either, and my mother always used to set her table the night before. Is it really unsanitary? Or is my neighbor wrong?

PREPARED AHEAD OF TIME

DEAR PREPARED: Most women like to set their table after the final vacuuming and dusting have been done, but if you find it easier to set your table the night before, it is quite all right. Your neighbor could dust off her manners.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter married a very nice neighbor boy. Neither one of the young people smoke, but both their fathers do. Shortly after they were settled in their apartment, they invited both families for dinner. When we got there the first thing we saw was a "NO SMOKING" sign in the living room. I have never seen or heard anything like this before and thought surely it must have been a joke. My husband lit a cigarette, our son-in-law disappeared and didn't even come back to say goodnight. What do you make of this kind of behavior?

STUNNED

DEAR STUNNED: A "NO SMOKING" sign doesn't belong in the living room — but the host does when he's invited guests. The young man's behavior was childish.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "TIRED OF DROPPER - INNERS": When you treat PESTS like GUESTS, you are asking for it.

"What's your problem?" For a personal reply from Abby, send a self-addressed envelope to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Who pays for what? For Abby's pamphlet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50c to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., and include a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Abby answers ALL mail.

Council Asks Highway Planners For Hearing Here

Palm Springs City Council has asked the California State Division of Highways to hold its March 30 freeway meeting here in the evening, "so that local people can attend."

The question of a daytime meeting holding back the appearance of many local people arose when Councilwoman Mary Carlin said that local residents "would have to work and couldn't spend all day in the auditorium."

The hearing on the new highway bypass of Palm Springs is scheduled to start at 9:30, and according to a Division of Highways spokesman, "the meeting will probably last all day."

Heavy opposition to the freeway route is expected from both the city and the area to the south.

Halecrest Sales Reported Brisk In Palm Desert

PALM DESERT — Families who have already moved into Halecrest Country Club Village, new community of poolside homes in Palm Desert, have become enthusiastic supporters of the development, reports Harry Goldberger, a "Village" official.

Amid one of the West's most striking scenic locations, new residents have discovered a "bonus" of several hours extra sunshine in the evening hours.

Also noted has been the location five minutes from any of eight major country clubs.

Homes in the Clubette unit are moving briskly, according to director of sales Lucile C. Armstrong.

Grouped in units of 14 around 20 by 40 foot pools, Halecrest Country Club Village homes contain varied arrangements of two and three bedrooms and family rooms, two baths and private terraces.

Still remaining is a choice of four floor plans interpreted in 13 authentic exterior stylings, giving the development the look of custom homes.

Water Board OK Given Mile Dike

Directors of the Coachella Valley County Water District voted Tuesday to construct approximately one mile of 10-foot high dike to protect a half square mile of the Palm Springs Panorama subdivision east of the desert resort city after approving an agreement by which the subdividers gave 10 acres of land and $25,000 toward the construction cost.

Approval of the flood-control pact culminated a heated two-and-a-half hour discussion of the project at an adjourned meeting of the district's board. Representatives of the company subdividing the Panorama section north of Ramon Road argued vigorously for a compromise under which they asked the district to accept the 10 acres of land as the firm's contribution to the project, but the directors were adamant that the developers should share the cost.

Speed Urged

At the end of the hearing the Directors authorized manager Lowell Weeks to proceed with all speed to develop engineering plans and start condemnation proceedings on additional land needed as the right-of-way for the massive dike which is expected to act as a shield for several thousand acres of land lying between the Southern Pacific railway and Ramon Road. The dike will steer flood waters into the Whitewater River channel.

Weeks told the board that the work probably can be finished "sometime this fall," explaining that there are no funds in the 1960-61 budget for the works, but that an appropriation will be set up in the 1961-62 budget. He estimated that preliminary details will require most of the intervening time before the construction funds would become available July 1.

Also, the board authorized the manager and the district's attorney, Earl Redwine, to draft a letter to the Riverside County Planning Commission explaining details of the flood control program. This was especially desired by the Panorama representatives, Jacob W. Silverman and Samuel Machel as their subdivision map is coming up for a hearing before the commission on March 14, and they said the matter would be delayed unless the flood "threat" were cleared up prior to that time. The district's letter will say that with completion of proposed works, the Panorama half square mile will be safe from flood waters.

Machel said that his firm "is just about out of land" from its earlier subdivisions, and that he must keep his sales organization busy. He said that a delay of several months "could ruin us."

The subdividers presented lengthy statements from engineers and others aimed at supporting a claim that the danger from flood waters on their lands is negligible.

Terry Ray, owner of an adjoining half square mile in Section 5, also disputed the flood danger but did admit that the land has a drop of from seven to 10 feet into the area where the maps show a water course of some past year.

Pacific Lenders Purchase Indian Wells Cove Site

Purchase of Indian Wells Cove, located on the fairways of Indian Wells Country Club has been announced by G. W. Kirkwood of Pacific Lenders Inc.

Pacific Lenders is the parent organization of El Dorado Palms and Palm Desert Contractors. The company also has other extensive holdings throughout the Southwest. The first of 80 homes are now approved for the Indian Wells development, and models are now under construction, it was stated.

The new luxury home development has been named Manitou Springs Estates and a temporary sales office has been set up. Manager Jack Sewell said that homesites are moving at a rapid pace.

Continuing Problem In Desert Homes Is Water Needed In Air

By United Press International Many American homes suffer from a humidity ailment. They either have too much moisture in the air or not enough.

Although experts agree that a relative humidity of between 30 and 50 per cent is desirable in most homes, and that 40 per cent is ideal with respect to health and comfort, it sometimes isn't possible to maintain this level under all types of weather.

A home with too much humidity is one in which moisture collects on windows. The excess moisture may collect as water on the inside surfaces of outside walls and even get into the wall cavity to do structural damage and blister the paint on the outside.

Particularly distressing to owners of homes with too much humidity is the fact that the excess water may cause a swelling in interior woodwork and furniture; drawers and doors may stick and carpets and fabrics have a tendency to mildew.

Feel Uncomfortable On the other hand, the air in a home with too little humidity feels uncomfortably dry, with the result that the skin and mucous passages of the nose and throat become dry and parched.

A lack of humidity also causes furniture to shrink and get loose at the joints.

Outdoor air is one of the reasons why many houses have low relative humidity. Outdoor air sneaks into the house through small cracks and openings around doors and windows and even through the pores of the building materials on the windward side of the house and pushes out an equal amount through the other sides.

15-Mile Wind In a house of average construction, all indoor air is traded for outdoor air about once each hour when a 15-mile-an-hour wind is blowing. It may be twice each hour in a loosely-constructed residence, and as little as once every two hours in a tightly-built one.

Very cold outdoor air contains little moisture and when heated to 70 degrees will have a very low relative humidity. If a house with no one living in it is heated to 70 degrees, its relative humidity would be about 5 per cent. That is too low for comfort.

To raise the relative humidity of the indoor air in cold weather, a substantial amount of water should be added to it.

For example a house of 9,000 cubic feet at 70 degrees indoors would require evaporation of 5 to 10 gallons of water per day to keep it at 35 per cent relative humidity when it is zero outdoors. Less water is necessary at warmer outdoor temperatures. The exact amount depends upon the construction of the house and the wind velocity.

Family Adds Moisture The family itself adds some of the necessary moisture to the air by just living in the house.

Each adult evaporates between 3 and 4 pints of water per day from his person, and a family of four in the house all day would contribute up to 8 quarts. A shower bath evaporates at least a half pint of water, and a tub bath bath about half that amount.

Mopping and rinsing an average kitchen floor adds about a quart of water, and 10 pounds of dry laundry washed and dried indoors about another 5 quarts. Cooking three meals daily will add almost another two quarts.

All of this moisture released into the indoor air will raise its relative humidity. But these living habits' moisture sources are irregular and usually insufficient, and the additional amount must be added by a humidifier.

Among various types of humidifiers is one that evaporates water from a pan or an assembly of evaporator plates placed in the top of a warm air furnace. This type also has been adapted for use with a hot water heating system.

Visitor Gains Fair Awards For Horses

Guests at the Robert Lintz apartment for the week-end were Dr. William S. Cheney and family of Long Beach. The Cheney's son, Bill, shows a horse at the fair and this year captured prizes in all three classes entered. The Cheney's daughter, Toni, and her friend, Gaila Corbett, also of Long Beach, were also guests at the Lintz desert home.

And speaking of the fair, Sarah Farrar, the Sandpiper's Mrs. Keith Farrar, wrote once again the "book" for the annual pageant. This is Mrs. Farrar's tenth year of writing for the pageant where she is the only unpaid, non-professional connected with the desert event.

Newport Beach Sandpiper-ites, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Beesmyer have guests at their cottage for the week-end. Their daughter and son-in-law, Anaheim car dealer, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Marsellu with their daughter Heidi and Mrs. Marsellu's mother from Syracuse, New York, Mrs. John Marsellu, are all enjoying their desert retreat.

Also from Orange County, Mr. Ken DeGroot from Santa Ana and his friend, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Haardiace from Corona del Mar, are guests at the George Osborne apartment. It's Mr. DeGroot's second Sandpiper visit in the past few weeks and loves this choice Palm Desert winter!

Aerial Photo Process Speeds Location of Boundary Lines

NEW YORK (U) — Photo gram-metry is one of the many new words in our growing technical language.

It means mapping from aerial photos, a process being used more every day to speed solutions in determining vital boundaries.

Homeowners know of the hassle that can arise over the location of a line between their lot and a neighbor's.

But emotions were even hotter when it comes to disputes over boundaries of lands containing valuable mineral deposits.

A real donnybrook was staged by various states and the federal government over the oil-rich submerged lands off the California coast and the shores of the Gulf of Mexico. This two-decade battle is settled as to ownership, but not as to exact determination of the normal low water mark along coastal areas, for that is where state ownership begins.

Exact location of this mark once was determined by survey parties which slogged along beaches, mud flats and marshlands to determine where to place markers and obtain information for official maps.

Study Time Reduced

This took years to accomplish, but the same job now can be done more accurately in a matter of months, according to Ford Bartlett, president of the New York engineering firm of Lockwood, Kessler & Bartlett, Inc. All it takes, he said, is an aerial photographic survey and the translation of the photos into maps.

ed sovereignty to marginal seas extending that far.

The court made no decisions on location of the lines from which Last June the Supreme Court upheld Congressional action giving the states title to submerged lands lying three nautical miles—3.45 land miles—seaward from the low water mark.

It went further in the case of Texas and Florida, ruling they were entitled to the submerged land extending 10.5 land miles seaward because, before admission to the Union, they had claim-measurement begins, and therefore extensive surveys lie ahead as disputes arise over the lines.

Maps Important

While these problems are serious to the federal and state governments, location of low water marks can also be very serious and subject to much legal action when individual or commercial ownership of waterfront lands is involved, Bartlett said.

He cited as an example the landowner whose waterfront is lost because of a storm or gradual erosion. The courts have previously well established that if this land is washed away in a hurricane, he, and not the state, can claim ownership to land under water. But if due to gradual erosion, it is his loss, Bartlett declared.

New Burning Hours Effective For Palm Desert

PALM DESERT — New burning hours will go into effect here immediately, the Chamber of Commerce learned in a letter from Truman Holland, State Forest Ranger for Riverside County.

Permits for the new schedule of afternoon burning hours are now available at the Palm Desert Forestry Division fire station, and old permits must be turned in at once, Chamber officials were advised.

With the issuance of new permits, no burning will be permitted in the morning hours. Starting 1:00 p.m. for burning under the new schedule will be 4 p.m.

YOUNG SAL MINEO IN ARTIST CLASS

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD 17—They laughed when Sal stood up to act ... but not anymore.

At the age of 22 Sal Mineo has won his second Academy Award nomination, a record unlikely to be matched unless Tuesday Weld begins making like Great Garbo in a hurry.

During his six-year sojourn in Hollywood the dark-haired youngster has been something of a laughing stock, principally because of his juvenile delinquency and his large and vocal idolization by screaming teenagers.

Any television or night-club comic could get a laugh by throwing Sal's name into his patter. But Sal isn't the butt of jokes anymore.

Rave Reviews
His performance as Dov Landau in "Exodus" brought rave reviews from critics and an Oscar nomination. His first nomination came in 1955 for "Rebel Without a Cause."

Despite his recognized talents as an actor, the New York son of Sicilian immigrants was getting the brush-off from movie producers.

"After 'Rebel' I had a terrible time getting good roles in 'A' pictures," Sal said while devouring lunch at the Brown Derby.

"So I made 'B' pictures and tried a singing career. One of my records, 'Start Moving,' sold a million copies. But the more successful I became as a singer the worse it was for my acting ambitions."

Right Direction
"People in the movie business began to think of me as a rock 'n' roll singer, so I gave it up. The money was great, but I want to be a serious actor."

Otto Preminger came to Sal's rescue with "Exodus," which Sal feels sure has pointed his career back in the right direction. He still doesn't understand why comedians get so many chuckles with his name.

"I live in New York," he went on, "and I want to see the Mike Nichols and Elaine May show on Broadway. I almost dropped dead when my name got the biggest laugh of the night."

Desert Museum Exhibits Kahn

The Desert Museum here has opened a display of paintings by Navajo artist Franklin Kahn, for showing through this month.

Display includes landscapes, still lifes, a child's portrait, and ceremonial theme works in pastels, water color, and oils.

Kahn was born on the Navajo reservation and was educated at the Stewart Indian school in Nevada. His work follows that of his water colorist brother, Chester Kahn. Kahn's wife, Mary Jane, completes the family art circle.

Phil Harris Set For 'Fireball'

Phil Harris, the blue-eyed southern boy who sung and played his way into national entertainment fame, will be a special guest for the first annual Fireman's Ball at the Taj Mahal in Indio Saturday evening, the firemen announced.

The show, produced as an equipment benefit for 13 volunteer fire departments in the upper Coachella Valley, is scheduled for an hour and a half.

The Coachella Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association will pause in the laughter to select a "Miss Fireball" from 10 candidates.

Featured in the entertainment will be singer Jeri Sullivan, who is set for the "Nellie Forbush" role in "South Pacific" at the Riviera Hotel, opening March 25. The Playhouse star will be joined by the Villagers, from Palm Springs; and The Sandblasted Four, Indio. Valeda Woodhall, dancing star of the London production of "Oklahoma!" will make a featured appearance.

Jimmy Whitley's combo will play for dancing from 8:30 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Television in Review...

By FRED DANZIG
 United Press International
 NEW YORK — The TV private eye took it on the chin Wednesday night.
 A comedy special, "Private Eye, Private Eye," also hit the ear, nose and throat, not to mention the funnybone, as a change-of-pace for CBS-TV's "U. S. Steel Hour." For his latest above-the-belt jabbing at TV, producer Max Liebman recruited a spritely group of sparring partners, headed by Ernie Kovacs and Edie Adams, with Hans Conried and Pat Carroll also very much in evidence.
 If portions of the hour recalled past Sid Caesar sketches, I guess the reason is that a group of Caesar's writers, including Syd Zelinka and Lucille Kallen, helped whip it together. But Ernie Kovacs was in evidence, too. He likes to put TV to work and some of his experiments were laced into the proceedings. The most notable was a mood piece in which Miss Adams sought to wrap her voice around themes by Debussy. It was only fitfully effective because the background swirls didn't cooperate.
 Another Kovacs creation, Percy

Doventonsis, at last was given a chance to get out from between those bookends and prance around in a skittish skit as a master detective. Percy, with those unblinking eyes and the smirking smile, made mincemeat of his colleagues, of course, and left the impression that he was trying to tell us something. But my hunch doesn't belong in a family newspaper, so I'll keep it to myself.
 Material Sharp
 Most of the material was sharp — occasionally biting — and played at a brisk, gay, sly pace. Occasionally, too, there were blank spots.
 The format, to kid the trenchcoats off TV's private eyes, kept its public eyes on the major operators of last season and overlooked some of the newcomers, such as "Checkmate," and the underwater or exotic types. A skit titled, "Peter Legato," kidded the strident, taut jazz of "Peter Gunn," but stayed around too long before the payoff scene. It was, to be sure, a difficult premise in the first place.
 I enjoyed the opening spoof, in which a private eye is visited at work by his gabby wife. The place of business, in this case, was a dark warehouse and our hero was shooting it out with Mr. Big, played by Conried. The skit moved along and delivered a funny kick to get the show off on the right foot.

 The sharpest material came in a spoof of TV sponsors. In this, Kovacs portrayed a supposedly cultured tycoon who was brainstorming with his aides in search of a new show. The humor was meaty, irreverent and healthy — sick, if you dig. After going for an especially bloody and sick-sick format called "Teen-Age Mercy Killer," Kovacs said, "That's the kind of show that'll sell baby food."
 A spoof of silent movies, a fixture in Liebman specials, it seems, was broad, good fun. In it, Ernie alerted me to the fact that two can tango in this sort of thing: himself as well as Caesar.

T-model; Bill Maidhof, with gleaming 1916 T-model (and if you ask inodel what you're not for this club); and John Dirnberger, owner of late model entry—a 1916 Erskine touring car. Erskine will try to run for 54 consecutive hours in the Palm Springs-Palm Desert route. (Desert Sun Photos)

Antique Cars Take to Highway in Contest Group Backs Highway Plan

A full entry list for next Tuesday's antique car endurance run starting from City National Bank in Palm Springs was assured today as run officials reported that 36 official entries have been received. The run starts at 10 a.m.

Co-chairmen of the event, Don Miller and Lou Armell said that this is the first time in the history of the Antique Car Club of America that an endurance run has been scheduled.

The event is in commemoration of the 1909 Munsey Reliability Run, and will feature a wide variety of models. The oldest car entered to date is a 1904 Cadillac which will be driven by Roy Sheely of Indio.

1911 Stanley Steamer
Another feature of the test will be a "performance" for a couple of runs of a 1911 Stanley Steamer, owned and driven by Tom Matthews of Rialto.

The run will be held between the hours of 10 a.m. Thursday and 4 p.m. Saturday. Start of the 46 mile course will be at City National Bank parking lot and the Ramon Road to Del Sol Road, then south to Country Club Drive, east to Washington Street, south to Miles Avenue, north to Highway 111, north to Desi Arnaz Indian Wells Hotel and then return to Palm Springs over the same route.

Drivers will make the run as many times as possible during the 54 hour period. To qualify for dash plaques, each car must complete two round trips totalling 92 miles, with the exception of one and two cylinder cars which must make one round trip.

Palm Springs Entries
Trophies will be awarded to first and second place winners for most miles and best gas mileage in four categories: One and two cylinder cars, and cars from 1900-15; 1916-22 and 1923-35 vintage. Awards will also be given for car having most trouble; the most popular car; the oldest car and a sweepstakes prize for most miles.

Entries from Palm Springs to date include L. A. Armell—1914 Model T Ford; Bill Maidhof—1916 Model T Ford; Otto Grelson—1916 Chandler; John Dirnberger—1926 Erskine; Harold Smith—1924 Model T Ford; John Sanborn — 1925 Dodge; John Sterling 1922 Dodge; Joseph Eicher—1927 Model T Ford; Don Miller—1928 Franklin, Charles Hoffmeier—1922 Dodge and Robert Tarr, 1911 Model T Ford.

No Gubernatorial Call For Kuchel

SACRAMENTO IM — U. S. Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel has said flatly he will not run for governor of California next year but hinted broadly he again will seek his Senate seat.

Republican Kuchel refused to say point blank that he would seek a new six-year term but he said "I have great pride in being a U. S. senator."

Asked if he thought former Vice President Richard M. Nixon would run for governor, Kuchel said, "I have no opinion ... he's extremely well qualified."

SECRET SERVICE AGENTS raided a restaurant here and discovered $215,000 in counterfeit $10 and $50 bills. Agent Tom Hanson, shown looking at the bogus money, said he arrested Bridgette Johnson, 30, owner of the restaurant, on suspicion of passing counterfeit notes. Other members of the gang were known to have operated in Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Utah, as well as in California. (UPI Telephoto)

Officials Laud Fund Effort

Officials of the American Red Cross, Palm Springs Chapter, today stated that the local organization receives no funds from the Community Chest.

Vollie Tripp, public relations director, said, "numbers of people are under the impression that the American Red Cross, Palm Springs Chapter receives support from the Community Chest. This is not true. The Red Cross receives no such support and has not for a considerable time."

Tripp said that the Red Cross withdrew from the Chest because "the agency was not receiving enough funds to do its job properly."

Dollars May Not Go Far, But They Have Their Good Points

By HARRY FERGUSON
United Press International
LONDON — The advertisement read: "Custom tailored suit. Finest British cloth. Price — 40 guineas."

Fine, but where do you get 40 guineas, or even one? There is no such thing as a Guinea in British coinage or currency. This has been driving tourists half crazy for years and the good news today is that it's beginning to get on the nerves of the British themselves. There is a drive on to junk the archaic system of pounds, shillings and pence and convert into something sensible like dollars and cents.

The last guinea was coined in 1813 and all of them have long since gone out of circulation. Yet most shops list prices in guineas and you pay your doctor bill in guineas. You do it by handing over one pound dollars 2.80 and one shilling 14 cents. Before we get into the campaign for the decimal system we might as well mention that a sixpence is worth seven cents, not six, and that there is something called maundy silver coined especially for the queen.

She gives it away on Maundy Thursday in Westminster Abbey, but you have to be an old age pensioner to get it.

Lord Dundee, minister without portfolio, started the drive for reform by saying the government wanted to know what the average man thought about changing to a decimal system. The Daily Mirror circulation above 4,500,000 took it from there and conducted a poll. Fifty four per cent of 17,000 persons interviewed favored a dollar and cents system. Younger people were heavily in favor of a change; older ones not so enthusiastic.

How soon the reform will come no one can predict. The matter of decimal money came up in the latter part of the 19th century, but Lord Randolph Churchill father of Sir Winston was chancellor of the exchequer and killed it with this remark:

"I never could make out what those damned decimal points meant."

Food Stamp Plan to Get Detroit Try

WASHINGTON — Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman has announced that President Kennedy's food stamp plan to help the impoverished will be tested in the city of Detroit and seven other localities from Montana to Kentucky.

The other localities Freeman announced Tuesday were Franklin County, Ill.; Floyd County, Ky.; the Virginia-Hibbing-Nashua, area in the Mesabi iron range of northern Minnesota; Silver Bow County including Butte, Mont.; San Miguel County, N.M.; Fayette County, Pa., and McDowell County, W. Va.

Freeman said he hopes to get the plan into operation by June 1, but said it might take until June 15 to get the programs going.

Families which qualify for the aid, designed to improve nutrition, would get stamps to be used like money at local grocery stores. The areas were chosen, Freeman said, with preference to localities of substantial unemployment.

The government currently operates a direct food donation program for needy families, in which surplus farm commodities are donated through local relief agencies.

Comeback Visit For Garland

HOLLYWOOD — Singer Judy Garland, who quit Hollywood for London last year, was back home in Filmtown today — determined to make a successful movie comeback.

She returned to make her first film since "A Star is Born" six years ago. It was the first time the 38-year-old former child star had set foot in Hollywood since last autumn, when she kissed Filmland goodbye, saying she felt she lacked roots here despite three decades as a top celebrity.

Don't Sell Ingo Short, Schmeling Warning

PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—Former world heavyweight champion Max Schmeling of Germany warned today that Ingemar Johansson should not be underestimated in Monday's title battle with Floyd Patterson.

"I am not picking either man," he emphasized, "but I have heard odds which make Patterson a 4-1 or 18-5 favorite. If one man is truly a 4-1 favorite, the two men do not belong in the same ring in a championship fight."

"I LIKE PUNCHERS, and both these men can punch. But Johansson can punch better with his right than Patterson can. This doesn't mean I pick Johansson to win, but it does mean that it will be a very even fight — it is not any 4-1 affair."

Schmeling pointed out that both men are in fine physical condition, and that there is no psychological edge to either.

"PATTERSON underestimated Johansson in the first fight, Ingemar underestimated Floyd in the second," Max said. "Now each has proper respect for the other."

"Really, it is taking the easy way to just guess at a winner and a round. You must look carefully at both men and when you do that for this fight, you have to say that either man could win."

Sports Car Club Rally Postponed

Tony Merino, president of the Palm Springs Sports Car Club announced Friday that the Sports Car rally, originally scheduled for next Sunday, March 12, has been postponed and will be reset at a date to be announced later.

Action on the postponement was taken Tuesday night at a meeting of the club.

Junior Cagers to Play in Banning

Three junior basketball teams from the Palm Springs basketball clinic, held each Saturday at the high school, will go to Banning tomorrow to meet junior basketball teams from that city. The buses will leave the high school gymnasium at 8:30 a.m.

Jim Workman and Dick Hough will be in charge of the teams.

CANDIDATES FOR LITTLE LEAGUE TO TRY OUT TOMORROW

Little League trials will begin tomorrow morning at 9 on the Nellie Coffman Junior High School grounds.

The trials are for newcomers in LL baseball and those boys who have played in previous years are not expected to show up tomorrow.

Trials will continue until April 15 when the league season will start, according to A. G. Woods, president.

Indian Thinclads Second in Debut

Coach Dick Bunting's Palm Springs High Indian track team made its debut for the 1961 season Thursday at Thermal and finished second to Coachella Valley's Arabs and ahead of Eisenhower of Rialto.

The Arabs won the varsity meet with 94½ points to Palm Springs' 56 and Eisenhower's 37½. Coachella Bs won their section of the triangular meet with 75, Palm Springs 19½ and Eisenhower 5½.

It was the Arabs' fourth meet and the Indians' first.

Rawlings of Palm Springs won both sprints, the 100 in 10.5 and the 220 in 22.5. Roberts won the broad jump with a leap of 21 ft. 1½ inches. Roughly took the 440 in 53.3.

Other points scored in the Varsity meet by the Tribe included a third in the 220 by Roberts, a third in the 880 by Teitelbaum, a second in the high hurdles by Hill, a third in the broad jump by Hill, and a third in the low sticks by Hill.

The Palm Springs half mile relay team finished second to the Arabs.

Tennis Clinics on Again Tomorrow

Junior Tennis Clinics, scheduled each Saturday at the high school courts will be resumed tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock, Howard Haddock, recreation director, said Friday.

The Clinics, under supervision of Dave Gilliam, Racquet Club pro, were cancelled last week because of the Desert Circus parade.

ANGELS HOST CUBS TOMORROW

With former President Dwight D. Eisenhower a doubtful starter, Palm Springs goes Major League tomorrow afternoon at the Polo Grounds when the Chicago Cubs of the National League play the Los Angeles Angels of the American League in the opening exhibition game at the Polo Grounds at 1:30 p.m.

A sell-out crowd is expected to witness the first game and there may be standing room only when the first ball is thrown.

AT THE OFFICE of the Desert Angels Committee which sponsored and worked diligently to bring the new Angels club to the Polo Grounds for spring training, it was said that there will be tickets available at the gate tomorrow but that more than a capacity crowd of 3,400 is expected for both tomorrow's and Sunday's games.

The game will be telecast by KHJ-TV starting at 1:30 p.m. and will also go out on radio via KMPC. When the Angels start their exhibition series tomorrow the youngest man in camp will be playing shortstop. Manager Bill Rigney has named Jim Fregosi, 18, the former star high school athlete from San Mateo, to play the key position.

"He's a real diamond in the rough," Rigney said. "In a couple of years he's going to be a great one, and he may be good enough right now."

Pitchers for the new American League club will be Truman Tex Clevenger, Jack Harshman and Tom Morgan.

The batting order for the Cubs will be Richie Ashburn, lf; J. C. Hartman, ss; Sam Drake, 3b; Frank Thomas, 1b; Danny Murphy, cf; Jim McKnight, 2b; Lou Johnson, rf; Sammy Taylor, c; Moe Drabowsky and Seth Morehead, p.

SUNDAY'S PITCHERS for the Angels will be Ted Bowsfield, Aubrey Gatewood and Ken McBride. The Cubs plan to start Dock Drott, former PCL star, and Wayne Carlander.

In yesterday's drills Ned Carver got in his first practice stint pitching 15 minutes in batting practice. Julio Becquer is in Mexico and is expected in camp tomorrow.

Former President Eisenhower notified the D.A.C. Thursday that it might be impossible to be present to toss out the first ball tomorrow.

Invitational Field to Set New Record

List 460 In Play at O'Donnell

The largest field in the 26-year history of the Palm Springs Invitational Golf Championships will start play Sunday at O'Donnell Golf Club in one of the state's leading amateur tournament fixtures.

As of Thursday evening, 460 were entered in the three brackets of the tournament. Class A golfers who start the event Sunday number 160. Seniors who will play Wednesday or Thursday total 180 and 120 of the state's top amateurs, play the tournament proper, 54 holes of medal play, Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

IN CLASS A, in two divisions, 6-14 handicaps and 15-24, the players have their choice of two days for 36 holes of medal play, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Seniors also have their choice of either Wednesday or Thursday, to play 18 holes.

The championship event, over 54 holes, starts Friday and closes Sunday, March 19.

THE SENIOR TOURNAMENT is divided into five age brackets, 55-59, 60-64, 65-69, 70-74, 75 and over.

Four low net and four low gross prizes are offered in each division of the Class A event, two low gross and two low net in each class of the Senior tourney and eight low gross and eight low net prizes in the Championship Flight.

FOUR FORMER Invitational champions are entered next weekend plus many other leading state amateurs.

The former champions are Dr. Frank M. Taylor Jr., (Bud), winner in 1936, 1952, 1955, 1957 and 1960; Harvie Ward, winner in 1954 and 1956; John W. Dawson, winner in 1940 and 1949 and Bruce McCormick, winner in 1938.

Dr. Taylor won the first tournament in 1936 and the latest last year. He won three in between to hold the title five times.

J. E. (DAD) FRENCH is chairman of the tournament committee and George Howard, club pro, Larry Sitter, club manager, and Jack Carroll are taking care of the details.

A Gala Night is scheduled at Riviera Hotel Thursday evening on the eve of the Championship Flight.

Proceeds from all refreshment sales and gallery tickets go to the Palm Springs Youth Center as usual.

Inman Leads by Two Strokes at Pensacola

PENSACOLA, Fla. — Walker Inman Jr., 33-year-old comparative unknown in the golfing world, making his first tournament start of the year, led the field in the second round of the sixth annual $20,000 Pensacola PGA Open with a two-stroke margin thanks to 25-mile-an-hour winds and a "running iron."

Capistrano 'Cap Draws Top Field

ARCADIA — A well-rounded field of 10 or more horses were expected to meet in Saturday's $100,000 San Juan Capistrano Handicap which brings the winter meeting at Santa Anita to a close.

A distance-loving mare, Geesee Lou, was the probable favorite in the race of about 1¼ miles on the hillside and infield turf course. She was assigned the second high impost of 119 pounds with T.V. Lark getting the top assignment of 122 pounds.

Other likely starters were Don't Alibi, Oink, Anisado, Prince Blessed, Scotland, First Balcony, Balsarroch Boy and Parks Pike with Nite Shift a possibility.

In Thursday's $15,000 Riverside Handicap for fillies and mares, Darling June raced to her fourth win of the meeting. The 4-year-old filly ran the 1-16 miles in 1:41.4-5 and as the top half of the E. B. Johnson entry she paid $4.20 to win.

Today's racing program was topped by the $15,000 Long Beach handicap at 1¼ miles on the infield grass course. It drew a field of nine headed by Dress Up, Nagea and Nite Shift.

NERVY GRANDMA LEADS POSSE

WALKILL, N. Y. (AP) — The good citizens of Walkill today toasted Mrs. Susan Redden, a shotgun-armed grandmother who led a posse Wild West fashion in capturing five teen-age drug store cowboys in the midst of an alleged robbery attempt.

The widow of a New York City policeman, Mrs. Redden said she was awakened by the crying of her grandchild Wednesday. And while comforting the youngster she glanced through a window to see a group of youths entering Edsall's store.

She called police in this town of 1,200 persons but was unable to reach them.

Then she told the operator to keep trying while she snatched up her shotgun and went into the battle line. The operator finally got through to help. But before that 12 off-duty guards from the nearby Walkill State Prison heard Mrs. Redden's appeal and formed a posse, rushing to her assistance.

Brown's Narcotics Measure Up for Hearing

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown has put his entire narcotics program before a Senate Committee for its first policy hearing.

The Senate Judiciary started hearings on a series of bills by Sen. Edwin J. Regan, D-Weaver, chairman of the committee. Regan had amendments to his bills which would adapt them generally to Brown's program. The program provides: Rehabilitation—some of Regan's amendments would adapt his Senate Bill 81 to cover two of the eight parts of Brown's program. The measure, before amendment,

NEW YORK (UPI) — Actress Marilyn Monroe, just out of a hospital where she was treated for "emotional upset," Tuesday joined ex-husband Arthur Miller at the funeral of his mother. She appeared unexpectedly for the Jewish services at Riverside Chapel in Brooklyn. Mrs. Augusta Miller, 69, died Monday.

Quote of the Week

LONDON (UPI) — Quote of the week, according to the Evening Standard: "I may visit my mother in Brussels when her subjects are a little calmer." (Queen Fabiola's brother, Count Jaime y Mora.)

provided that all narcotics offenders register with the police for five years.

The amendments add a new commitment procedure for addicts to make it conform with Brown's idea for a rehabilitation program. Convicted addicts would get up to six months in a "southern medical center," tentatively planned at Norco in Riverside County, and long terms of close parole supervision.

Penalties — Regan's Senate Bill 83 was one of two generally endorsed by Brown for increasing penalties on all narcotics offenders.

MORE JOBS-LESS TAXES

With Airport Acquisition!

MORE JOBS?

This community's industry is tourism, and our payrolls are produced by those basically who serve our visitors. Without adequate transportation this tourist industry would wither away, and when it did, our community would wither with it.

Modern transportation is keyed around air travel. Air travel is keyed to and around the facilities offered by the communities the airlines serve.

Better air terminal facilities mean more air traffic and more air traffic means more visitors. That means, simply, more dollars circulating in our community.

Those circulating tourist dollars mean more jobs for every one. Obviously the hotels and eating and entertainment establishments will need more help. But so will ALL the business establishments, from banking to bakers, from janitors to jewelry salesmen.

That's why it's simple logic to keep those tourist dollars coming in by making it EASY and ATTRACTIVE for them to come in.

Simple self-preservation says: "We must have the airport for MORE JOBS!"

LESS TAXES?

If the city acquires the airport, it will be self-sustaining in 3 years... start to show a profit in 4! If, on the other hand, we lose the airport and the sales tax revenues it produces for the community, your property taxes must and will go up! The money must come from someplace. Let's preserve those sales tax dollars.

It will cost for 3 years

1st year . . .	23.3c	per $100 assessed val.
2nd year . . .	21.7c	" " " "
3rd year05c	" " " "

... or, for the owner of a $20,000 home the total cost for all 3 years would be but $25.15.

After that it shows a profit!

Airport users, our visitors, paid an estimated $150,000 last year of a total of $412,000 city sales tax revenue.

The loss of this tax would increase property taxes!

The Desert Empire's Leading Daily Newspaper

Palm Springs, California, Friday, March 10, 1961

The Show Boat's coming round the bend... heading for the Ranch Club tonight... if you can imagine a Mississippi riverboat crossing the desert... Anyway... believe it or not...

it's Minstrel Show night in the Naughty Nineties Room... with virtually all reservations sold out... There will be end men and pretty Southern belles... and Clessa Williams doing a Helen Morgan... Danny Lewis (he's father of Jerry Lewis) is on the show... and Duke Mitchell... his face smeared with burnt cork... will do a Jolson... Duke is producing the show in partnership with Joyce Clark (wife of the Ranch Club owner)... and will have his two children with him in one segment of the show...

Songs and jokes brighten the minstrel show... which is sure to be in the riotous mood of the Ranch Club's Sunday brunches... Other performers on the program will be Pepe Callahan, Zino Stout, Joe Spata... Ingemar Swenson, Bob Lamont, Tom Sills, Joe Rauche, Ben Henderson... Quay Sargent, Sid and Ginger Tomack and the Wally Harpst Trio... A minstrel show in the Naughty Nineties Room... should add up to fun...

Mary (Mrs. Allan) Jones has finally recovered from that surgery that has slowed her down the past few months... and was partying at the Ranch Club the other evening... with Allan and a group of friends... In the group were the Joseph Cascarellas of Baltimore... the John Coates and Louis Kuppenheimers of Chicago...

The Coates have been visiting the Kuppenheimers (of the clothing family)... who rented a home on Jaques Road this winter... Their son Bud (Louis Kuppenheimer III) who is a student at Kenyon College in Ohio arrives this weekend to spend Spring vacation... and the family will return to Chicago together at the end of the month...

Greer Garson and her husband Colonel Buddy Fogelson... who are vacationing at La Quinta... were dining at LaPaz the other evening... with her mother...

Kert was seated between Carla Alberghetti and Katherine Hilgenberg... the three stars of next week's opera at Deep Well...

Renee Taylor was in town overnight... autographing books... but had been here a week earlier... when we lunched together at RimRocks... A fascinating woman... she is also editor of the Whitehorn publishing house in Los Angeles...

As a girl... she had been one of the great young pianists... until she was skiing and fell and broke her wrist so that her career as a concert pianist was abruptly ended... and she started a whole new life...

Rosalie and George Hearst are back in their Abrigo Road home... after a busy ten days in Los Angeles... where they went to attend the wedding of George's daughter Phoebe Millicent Hearst Tovea to Amory J. Cooke of Phoenix (this is the handsome young man who escorted her the night of the Hearst family dinner at the Tennis Club in January)... Phoebe's twin brother George is publisher of the Herald Express...

George attended Hearst Consolidated and Hearst board of trustees meetings while on town... On Tuesday... when Rosalie was celebrating her birthday... Madelyn and Cornelius Cole entertained them at Santa Anita's Turf Club... and at Frank Senes' new "Crazy Horse" night club (formerly Ciro's)...

Clubwomen Entertained at Luncheon

Palm Springs Woman's Club was well represented when Mrs. Irwin D. Wright (she's tea chairman) and Mrs. Charlotte B. Goodwin (she's house chairman) co-hosted a luncheon card party at the Oasis Hotel.

Bowls of pink and white gladioli and pastel sweet peas decorated the luncheon times giving a spring-time effect. Champagne cocktails were followed by an exotic salad luncheon which concluded with an iced creme de menthe and coconut dessert.

The afternoon was spent around the card tables, playing bridge, canasta and shanghai.

Guests included: Mmes. S. A. Arnold, Earle Arnold, Herbert W. Burns, Roy W. Burton, David B. Carlin, Marvin D. Cartwright, George C. Chandler, Leonard Cleek, Jerome H. Dreier, L. H. Edgerton, C. Ronald Ellis, Ben F. Elrod, Joseph Forkner, John B. Frederickson, Charles D. Greason, Meade Hargiss.

Also: Mmes. C. C. Hutchens, Alan James, S. T. Kelsey, Louis Lombard, Chauncey D. Mahannah, Chester Matson, Howard M. Matthews, Dan L. Newton, Francis J. Pruitt, Ben Read, Gerald K. Sanborn, Elwin Seaton, John Vale, Glenn B. Watson, Ben O. Wells, George O. Wheeler, Charles B. Wilson, Lotta H. Choate, Berniece Jackson, Florence Larned and Miss Hazel Gross.

ed. They are, from left, Larry Kert, Katherine Hilgenberg and Carole Alberghetti, the three young stars of next week's production at Ferralis' Playhouse, Mrs. McManus and Michael Ferrall. (P. S. NewsPhoto)

Luncheon Honors Dr. Egglestone

Mrs. F. S. Markham hosted a luncheon at Tennis Club on Thursday, honoring Dr. Louise Egglestone, leader of Spiritual Life Missions.

The luncheon group included the Rev. Archie Matson, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Gilmore and the Mmes. E. Doty Worcester, Norman Harris, Carl Megown, William McMillen.

Linen Knits

NEW YORK (UPI)—What's new about linen is that the fabric—in blends containing cotton or rayon—is being used for highly fashionable knits. For spring and summer you'll see dresses, coats and coordinates all made of knitted linen.

What's old about linen is its traditionally fine washability and quick-drying qualities. A linen knit can be laundered in the same manner as any fine sweater.

Favorite Blanding Poems on Guild's Monday Program

A storehouse of literary treasures from the immortal works of Don Blanding, excerpts from "Vagabond's House," "Songs of the Seven Senses," "Stoways in Paradise," will be presented by Florence Ohlsen on the program, which Mrs. Walter Yeaton, chairman of the Book and Travel Guild of Palm Springs Woman's Club will present when that group holds its regular meeting at the clubhouse on Monday.

Blanding, an American poet who lived in Hawaii, had traveled the seven seas. He was an artist by nature, illustrating his own books, an actor by instinct, author by accident and vagabond by choice. Before his death, a year or so ago, he appeared here on a program at the Woman's Clubhouse.

In addition to the Blanding review, Mrs. Ohlsen will offer valuable suggestions for current reading.

A salad luncheon will be served at 12:30 p.m. to members and guests. Tea chairman Mrs. Earle Arnold and her co-chairmen Mrs. Marc Essery and Mrs. Daniel Newton, will be assisted by the following committee: Mmes. S. A. Arnold, George Chandler, Doak Davis, Benjamin Farley, Cornelius Maffie, Gerald Sanborn, Foster Simonsen, James Allen Stone.

Welcoming members and guests will be the following members of the hospitality committee: Mmes. Clare Kinne, Daniel McCauley, Joseph Stermer and Miss Hazel Gross.

Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Arnold, 324-1945; or Mrs. Kinne, 324-2479.

Commodore off to The Islands on Another Cruise

Commodore Harold Gillespie (he's Commodore of the Matson Lines) took the helm of the Lurline yesterday for another cruise to the Hawaiian Islands. Upon his return, he will spend three days with his wife in their Rancho Mirage home, after which he will again captain a Pacific cruise.

Mrs. Gillespie is looking forward to March 31, when her seafaring husband will be sand-bound for three months. The Gillespies' son and daughter-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. L. W. Shortell, Boulder, Colorado, will arrive in Rancho Mirage, Mar. 26, to spend the Easter vacation. With the Shortells will be their three children, Michael, 15; Linda, 12; and Jeanne, 6.

This weekend, Major and Mrs. William Pounds of San Carlos will be Mrs. Gillespie's houseguests. The Gillespies and Pounds were neighbors in San Carlos.

Style Show Luncheon at Eldorado Country Club

Plans for the forthcoming benefit fashion show - luncheon to be held at Eldorado Country Club on Monday, March 13, at 12 noon, were finalized when Palm Springs Auxiliary of Children's Home Society met at the home of Mrs. Allison B. Hamilton. Auxiliary president Mrs. John Michelson conducted the meeting, coordinating arrangements.

Reservations are limited by available space and Mrs. Adrian Schwilck, ticket chairman, reported that all tickets have been sold and no more reservations can be accepted.

Spring and summer resort fashions will be shown by Saks Fifth Avenue, and Mrs. William A. Foster, who is coordinating the show, announced that professional models will be used.

Table decorations in the St. Patrick's theme, displayed by decorations chairman Mrs. Willis Reliaford, won approval. Mrs. F. Vickers Ellis reported that a three-day stay at the Riviera Hotel in Las Vegas will be an added inducement to attend and a case of champagne, luggage and a transistor radio will be given away. The nominating committee made its report and election of officers will be on the agenda for the next meeting, later this month. Guest speaker, at that meeting will be John A. Henry, area supervisor of the Riverside office of the Children's Home Society of California.

Others attending the meeting and enjoying refreshments of coffee and hot cross-buns served by the hostess, Mrs. Hamilton, were Meses. J. A. Fitzpatrick, Dale Le Vasseur, Mel Crowell, Leonard Shoen, H. B. Olson, George P. Lynch, J. Allen Stone, John Sanborn, Agnar O. Wahlberg, James Schecht, Tony Rose, Don Miller, Robert S. Doman, Tom Brown, Glenn Austin, George Anderson, Frank Gaudiello, J. J. Mitchell and F. Vickers Ellis.

Expert to Give Demonstration of Flower Arranging

A demonstration of flower arranging will be given Monday from 11 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. by Mrs. Devere Williamson at Charleston's, 798 Palm Canyon Drive. Mrs. Williamson was formerly with Descanso Gardens in La Canada and with the Art Gallery at Huntington Library in San Marino. She has had flower arrangements published in several national magazines.

Few Tables Available for The Ball

Announcement that two of America's favorite entertainers, Dinah Shore and Danny Thomas will be on the program for tomorrow night's WAIF Ball in the Mediterranean Room brought a flood of reservations, but Mrs. Leo Owens and Mrs. Donald McDermott, co-chairmen for the Ball, said today that a few tables are still available. Reservations may be made by calling reservation chairman Mrs. Perry Gill at 325-5466, they advised.

Kirk Douglas, celebrities chairman, will have a number of big name stars in the audience, among them Dinah Shore's husband George Montgomery.

Decorations chairman Mrs. James Logan Abernathy and her committee have been at work on original and different decorations which are to be a surprise.

Numerous valuable and desirable prizes will be given away at the Ball including a week at the Golden Door in Escondido, an O. E. L. Graves painting, a Bales gown from Madelyn Fio Rito, a desert scene by Helen Abernathy and others.

Billy Allen and his orchestra will play during the cocktail hour and dinner dancing will be to the music of John Fresco and his 10-piece orchestra.

Dinner Group at RimRocks

An interesting group dining together at RimRocks Tuesday night, included Edith and Dick Edwards, with the Jack Georges of Rancho Santa Fe, Mrs. Stephen Royce of Pasadena and Smoke Tree (Royce owns the Huntington Hartford and the Royal Hawaiian), and the Tom Crawfords of Rancho Mirage and Holmby Hills.

That same evening the Bill Reichels were entertaining Dr. and Mrs. Charles McCloud, and the Fank Hoys were in with the Mel Eatons. The Tom Hulls and Charles Irwins were a foursome, and the Earl Hendersons were dining with Mrs. William Wright.

Guadalupe Altar Society Plans St. Patrick's Dinner

A new president was installed and final arrangements made for our Lady of Guadalupe's Third Annual St. Patrick's Day Party, when the women of the Altar Society met Tuesday evening at the Calle Rolph home of Mrs. Connie Bernstein. Installing officer, Mrs. Mary Hutchinson presided while the outgoing president, Mrs. Bernstein, presented her gavel to the new president, Mrs. Mildred Fleming.

Biggest item of business at the meeting preceding the installation, was a discussion of the church's St. Patrick's Day dinner-party which will be held in the Riviera's Mediterranean Room, Sunday evening. Dinner will be served at 7 p.m., following a cocktail hour.

Entertainment bill of fare will be star-studded and headline Danny Thomas, Peter Lawford, Sammy Cahn and Jimmy Van Heusen. Many other local entertainers have promised to appear at the benefit, along with the traditional Irish dancers.

Present at the meeting were Meses. Calista Stefan, Genevieve St. Marie, Virginia Betz, Carmel Jurado, Emily Romero and Catherine Clemens. Also, Meses Mercy Gabrielle, Mary Irwin and Dorothy Henderson.

Rusk Says U.S. Force Will Stay in Berlin

WASHINGTON (U) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk says that U. S. forces will remain in Berlin indefinitely and that the world must understand that the American government is determined to protect the city and its inhabitants.

Rusk indicated that U. S. forces might be pulled out when there is a general settlement of the problem of a divided Germany. But he declined to commit himself specifically on this point.

He told a news conference that solution of the German question is going to take time. He was unwilling at this point to make any guess whatsoever as to when U. S. and allied forces in the Red-encircled city, numbering about 11,000, might be reduced or removed.

Withdrawal Contemplated
Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower had proposed a token reduction of allied forces in the city pending final settlement of the German problem. And the U. S. position heretofore always has envisaged complete withdrawal when Germany was unified.

However, Rusk specifically refused to link the question of withdrawing troops with the unification of Germany.

He said the United States was strongly committed to the defense of Berlin and intended to stay there. He refused to speculate when forces could be withdrawn.

He said, when asked whether the Kennedy administration was reversing Eisenhower policy, that he didn't want to get into a question of rhetoric. The United States will start from where it is and see where it can go, he said.

Rusk, holding his second news conference since taking office in January, also said:

Reds Hold Americans
—The Chinese Communists have rejected again an American demand for the release of five U. S. citizens held prisoner on the Red mainland. And the United States was disappointed that the Chinese representative at a Warsaw meeting with U. S. Ambassador Jacob D. Beam turned down a proposal for U. S. newsmen to go to Red China. The United States intends to pursue this question and draws some hope from the fact that the tenor of the Warsaw meeting was civil.

—The United States believes there is a chance of reaching an agreement with the Soviet Union on a nuclear test ban if the Russians, along with the British and Americans, approach the resumed talks in Geneva March 21 with serious determination to find a formula.

—The United States is very concerned over the continued Soviet airlift of war material to the rebels in Laos, which is substantial.

Language Joust Nets 13 Winners

Palm Springs High School had 13 winners in the fifth annual Foreign Languages Field Day at San Bernardino Valley College last Saturday.

The Palm Springs students — 71 strong — competed with students from 70 other junior and senior high schools throughout Riverside and San Bernardino counties. A total of 1,500 youngsters competed in identification, oral comprehension, picture description, round table, reading comprehension, twenty questions, audio-lingual, and debate events.

Winners in the Spanish and French contests were: Patti Patzner, French II — Oral Comprehension — 3rd place; Colleen Kieley, French II — Round Table — 3rd place; Team of Corey Fisher, Ray Baddow, and Virgie Stoessel, Twenty Questions, French III — 1st place; Betsy Lehrfeld, French III, Audio-Lingual, 2nd place; Sherry Pack, French IV — Round Table — 1st place; Russell Twist and Steven Nichols, French III Debate team, 2nd place; Rob Whitton, Spanish II, Round Table, 2nd place; and Don Bogdan, Joanne Ellison, and Candy Crux — French I — Twenty Questions — 3rd place.

Students who represented the Spanish I, II, and III year classes of Miss Hilda Haigaz, Mr. Alex Hammond, Mrs. Sylvia Lindberg.

Man Found Dead In Desert Area

SALTON SEA — John Edward Patchin, 33 of Cayucos apparently took his own life last night by attaching a hose to his car exhaust pipe and inhaling carbon monoxide fumes, near here. Sheriff's said the deputies found his parked car 4 miles east of Salton State Park on Highway 111 at approximately 9 p.m.

KENNEDY APPOINTEE URGES FEDERAL AID

WASHINGTON — A cabinet officer and a senator-educator today told a Senate committee today that Congress can no longer afford to delay federal aid to education to provide needed classrooms and give teachers a status above that of "full time baby sitters."

Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Abraham Ribicoff and Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., called for approval of President Kennedy's $5.6 billion education bill in opening Senate hearings on the legislation.

Salary Aid Fulbright, former president of the University of Arkansas, strongly backed Kennedy's proposal that federal funds be available for increased teacher salaries as well as build classrooms.

"The status of teachers in our public schools is one of the most disgraceful aspects of our society," he said. "They have the responsibility for shaping the minds and hearts of our children and yet they are regarded by many as little more than full time baby sitters. They are woefully underpaid and overworked."

Crisis Ribicoff, underscoring the key provisions of the Kennedy program on classrooms, teachers' salaries and college scholarship aid, emphasized that the "Greatest pressure" of need will come in the next five years.

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., told Fulbright there "comes a time when there must be a limit" on asking wealthier states to bear a heavier share of the school grant burden. Fulbright replied that Arkansas and much of the South is poor because Pennsylvanians, New Yorkers and others "exploited" Southern natural resources.

The Senate group also heard Sen. Norris Cotton, R-N.H., urge action on his bill which would return 25 per cent of the federal cigarette tax to states for use in education. He said this would provide $455 million the first year, as against $66 million under the administration bill.

Doom Becomes Boom DUNOON, Scotland — Some Britons have protested against the stationing of U. S. nuclear submarines at the new base at Holy Loch, but local Scots know a good money - maker when they see it. The anti-Polaris demonstrators put up a sign saying "Polaris Means Doom." Someone changed the last word to "Boom."

Cardenas' Revival In Red Camps

Gen. Lazaro Cardenas is one of a string of military men who served as presidents of Mexico in unbroken succession from the revolution in 1911 through 35 hectic years ending in 1946.

He is also the man who in 1938 expropriated American and British oil companies valued at about $450 million, touching off a dispute which dragged on for nearly 10 years before final settlement was reached.

This week, he emerged as a dominant, if somewhat mysterious figure, in a Mexico City meeting of hemispheric left-wingers called the Conference for National Sovereignty, Economic Emancipation and Peace.

Castro Kin There Besides Cardenas, other worthies at the meeting were Vilma Espin de Castro, sister-in-law of Fidel and leader of the big Cuban delegation, and a Mexican labor leader named Vincent Lombardo Toledano.

Toledano is noteworthy because his Communist-dominated Confederation of Mexican Workers provided Cardenas' main support in the election which Cardenas won in 1934 and because Toledano long was regarded as international communism's No. 1 man in Latin America.

As had been anticipated, this week's conference consisted primarily of vitriolic attacks against the United States, with Toledano declaring:

"The greatest evil in Latin America and even in the whole world is North American imperialism . . . Let's fight, let's fight this imperialism."

Settlement by Talk Cardenas, an admirer both of Red China and Castro, hailed Cuba's "incorruptible leaders," and fell in easily with the current Cuban line that any dispute between the United States and Cuba can be negotiated. The moderate tone of his speech, however, brought somewhat less than wild acclaim from his audience.

But Senora Castro brought them to their feet later with a rousing attack on the United States in which she also said:

"We are ready to make peace, but on equal terms."

President Kennedy made his position clear in his State of the Union message. He said:

"Questions of economic and trade policy can always be negotiated. But Communist domination is this hemisphere can never be negotiated."

Speech Test Set Thursday

TWENTYNINE PALMS — The Toastmaster Clubs from Palm Springs, Hemet, Indio, Desert Hot Springs and Banning will hold their annual area C-6 extemporaneous speech contest at the Marine Corps base here Thursday evening.

Hosting the contest will be the Twentynine Palms Commissioned Officers and Staff Noncommissioned Officers Toastmaster's Clubs.

The winner of the contest will compete in the district contest to be held in Riverside county during April. Should the winner of the Twentynine Palms contest win in the district, he will go to the zone, regional and national contests. The National contest will be held at Seattle, Washington in July.

What Then?

LONDON (UPI) — A sign in a London restaurant window offered for 10 shillings sixpence ($1.47) "roast chicken to take away for a limited period."

DESERT HOT SPRINGS — The Guys and Dolls teenage club, sponsored by the Pied Pipers here, will conduct a fund solicitation for all the Desert Hot Springs Teen Angel candidates from noon to 5 p.m. Saturday.

The contributions will be delivered in sealed cartons to teller Mrs. Samuel Mooney. Proceeds will be equally accredited to candidate teens Sheri Johnston, Susan Carter, Dana Goforth, Nancy Toy, Dorothy Leonard and Diane Lynch.

Phone Firm Asks Merger Plan OK

SAN FRANCISCO — The California Water and Telephone Co. asked the state Public Utilities Commission today for permission to merge with its fully owned subsidiary, Coachella Valley Water Co., Indio.

Coachella owns and operates a system in Riverside and Imperial counties.

BEST SENIOR CITIZEN DEVELOPMENT IN P.S. AREA

SR Fifteen minutes from Palm Springs, up out of the valley dust storms, is a unique controlled development, the only desert community where you can build a small winter or retirement home and be sure of having the right kind of neighbors. It is owned by Charles Doyle, the creator and original owner of famed Smoke Tree Ranch. Existing 20 owners are retired Navy and Air Force officers, doctors, engineers and business executives, economy minded, but discriminating. No more need to buy a $3000 lot. We lease 1/4 acre lots $12 a month. City utilities, good TV, safe, recorded leases identical with Irvine Estates, Balboa & Stanford University lease plan. Conserve your capital to build and half pay for a home. Build your own home or buy a 720 to 1027 sq. ft. home for $4997 to $5900. Free folder. No salesmen calling. MAN IN SPACE

By STANLEY HALL
United Press International
VANDENBERG AFB, Calif. (U) — This once unwanted piece of real estate on the shores of the Pacific has been transformed in the last two decades from 65,000 acres of shifting sands and scrub oak into one of this country's most important space age bases.

The transformation has been gradual. The area first came to the attention of the military shortly before World War II when an armored training base, Camp Cooke, was established there. It was closed in 1946, reactivated briefly during the Korean War, and then abandoned again in 1953.

In December, 1956, two Air Force officers arrived at old Camp Cooke. It was one of 200 sites being investigated as a possible place to establish the Air Force's first missile base.

The abandoned camp was not an impressive site. Trees had grown over the roads, sand blew over the tops of fences, and the relentless wind and sun had drained the color from the few remaining buildings.

Finds It Perfect
But the Air Force decided old Camp Cooke was perfect for what it wanted — a site for training missilemen along with maintaining an operational missile force.

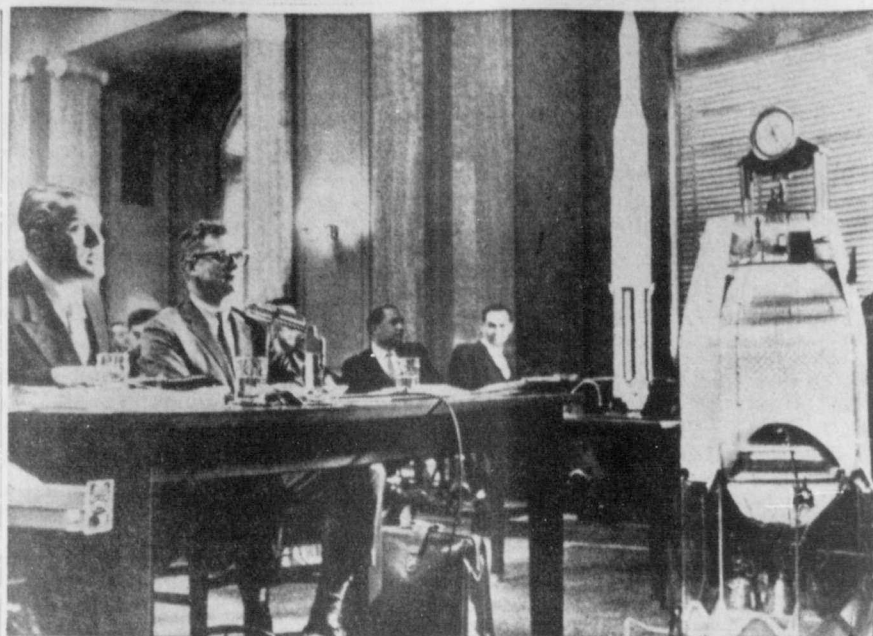

That is the prime reason Vandenberg has for being. But scientists soon found it was perfect, too, for launching satellites into orbit over the poles. It is one of the few places really suited for that in this country.

"You can shoot a rocket south from here," one officer said, "and the first land mass it crosses is Antarctica, 6,500 miles away."

On a drizzly Dec. 16, 1958, the first successful missile was launched from Vandenberg. It was a Thor and it roared 2,500 miles out into the Pacific. Since then, some 50 other missiles have departed Vandenberg — Thor intermediate range missiles, Atlas ICBMs, Discoverer and Midas satellite shots.

The satellite launches (the first was Discoverer I on Feb. 28, 1959) made Vandenberg, along with Cape Canaveral and Wallops Island, Va., synonymous with space research.

Make First Recovery
Particularly so on a sunny August afternoon last year when a Discoverer, No. 13, sent back the first man-made object from orbit. Three more recoveries followed quickly, planes catching them in flight off Hawaii.

AMERICAN MISSILE capability was reviewed for the Senate Space Committee by Dr. Werner Von Braun, director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Space Flight Center at Huntsville, Ala. Von Braun, accompanied by Dr. Robert C. Seamans, NASA scientist, told Senators Saturn booster is largest in free world. Saturn's stage IV is at right; missile model on table right rear. (UPI Telephoto)

Scientists hailed the recoveries as proving that plans for the Mercury man-in-space program would work. They pointed out that the mechanism that fired the capsule out of orbit and down toward the Pacific was similar to the one planned for the Mercury astronaut capsule.

Nineteen launch pads are scattered around Vandenberg and its adjoining Navy counterpart, Point Arguello, including four pads for the short-range Thor where Air Force crews still train British Royal Air Force missilemen to handle the IRBMs positioned throughout the British Isles.

Other launching facilities are under construction, including silos from which to fire America's newest ICBM, the solid-fueled "more bang for the buck" Minuteman, which a few months ago completed its first full-scale test at Cape Canaveral.

Silo Launching Near
Within the next two or three months possibly, the first Titan ICBM will be fired from a silo launcher 160 feet below the surface of a Vandenberg hillside.

The Air Force has stationed about 7,000 officers and men here, and there is an equal number of civilian workers on the base building new facilities for new rockets.

What do the natives think of the nearby missile base? When they shoot one of the 80-ton missiles into the sky now, the people pay little attention. They glance up for a minute, and then go back to raising cattle, drilling for oil, harvesting broccoli, or weeding the many commercial flower seed fields around the base.

Said one native recently who has lived all his life in this coastal area halfway between Los Angeles and San Francisco:

"I guess it's a good thing they made an air base there. Nobody else wanted it."

Unusual for Him

BONN, Germany (U) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer had the unusual experience Wednesday of sending birthday congratulations to a politician older than himself. Adenauer, 85, last January an the oldest head of government in the world, wired congratulations to former German Labor Minister Rudolf Wissell, 92.

Postal Receipts Dip at CC Office

CATHEDRAL CITY — A slight dip in postal revenue was registered here in February Postmaster Al Patane reported. February receipts this year were $4,760.53 as opposed to $5,432.26 for the same period 1960.

Patane noted that accounting procedures used by his office "might" have accounted for the drop. "We maintain records on a quarterly basis," he said, "and sometimes you lose a day or two that way."

Receipts for March at this point are well ahead of last year's figures the Postmaster indicated.

Disaster Office Cites Fallout Shelter Need

Human defense has almost completed a round trip from the walled cities of feudal days to the fallout shelters of the nuclear age. The weapons have changed; but the basic objective is still survival.

Most people don't understand radioactive fallout. In today's world, they must. The purpose of this article is to present the facts about fallout; tell what the effects of radiation might be if a nuclear bomb were dropped in the United States; and how to protect yourself.

Hard to Detect
Usually you cannot see, hear, feel, taste, or smell radiation. However, under some conditions you might see fallout — either as dust in the air or as a layer of dust on surfaces.

When a nuclear bomb explodes, the initial effects are blast (or shock wave); intense heat; and initial radiation. The results would be severe damage to buildings, many fires, and deaths from radiation. These things happen very quickly.

Fallout is a delayed effect. The radioactive material produced by the explosion would begin to settle from the cloud, and would be spread over a wide area.

Serious fallout would cover an area many times larger than that affected by the blast and heat. Serious fallout might occur 10, 50, or even 100 or more miles downwind from the explosion. After a bomb blast, almost any location might receive fallout.

The best protection is afforded by building a shelter according to local building codes and following designs available from your local civil defense office.

If you wish additional information about fallout or shelters, write to the California Disaster Office, Box 110, Sacramento, for free pamphlets.

Gets Jail Term
LOS ANGELES (U) — Jazz saxophonist Art Pepper, 33, was sentenced Wednesday to a prison term of 2 to 20 years for possessing heroin. Superior Judge John F. Also turned down Pepper's plea for probation.

Fallout means the bits of radioactive dust, debris or solid matter which settle or "fall out" from the mushroom cloud formed when a nuclear weapon is exploded. These radioactive particles act like miniature X-ray machines — sending out rays in many directions.

It may be extremely dangerous. Sufficient quantities, over a period of time, can lead to illness or death. However, it is possible to protect yourself from it by taking the simple but important steps described in these two articles.
